

Perfect sculpting

WOMEN everywhere share one common concern - beauty dilemmas are an inescapable bond that unites them. Looking good is a priority. It affects not only how others look at you, but also how you feel about yourself. This applies to women of all ages and ethnicities.

As such, CN Beauty is always looking for the most advanced or revolutionary methods to help women look and feel younger, and stay flawless for the longest period of time. The latest advancement in high-tech facial contouring and body sculpting is now available at most of its 30-plus branches in Malaysia.

Pollogen's apollo is a medical CE-certified all-in-one answer both for reducing excess fat and circumference and collagen replenishment to tighten skin, remove lines and reduce the signs of ageing.

This unique solution powered by the clinically-proven TriPollar technology is purportedly the most advanced non-invasive, pain free, fast and effective aesthetic treatment for all areas of the body, with a special small applicator for treating very delicate areas.

The new large body applicator offers a one-of-a kind design to treat dimpled skin and localised fat deposits in wide body areas with maximum skin coverage and powerful, high-energy heating capacity.

The medium applicator is used for smaller areas such as the face, neck and arms, while the small applicator is used to treat fine lines and furrows in delicate areas.

With the Apollo system, the most delicate areas of the face can be treated, such as around lips (peri oral), around the eyes (peri orbital), forehead and hands.

The small applicator makes it possible to safely reduce furrows and tighten these fine lines without the risk of damage.

Clinical results of TriPollar treatments show significant circumference reduction in the abdomen, buttocks and thigh areas. These findings are backed by ultrasound fat measurements and histology results demonstrating increased fat metabolism and collagen remodelling.

Proven TriPollar technology for superior results

RF (Radio Frequency) energy has been successfully used in aesthetic medicine due to its well-established safety and efficacy profile.

Overcoming the limitations of both mono-polar and bi-polar RF energies, the apollo system heats the dermal and subcutaneous skin layers concurrently in a multi-electrode configuration painlessly without injuring the epidermis.

A gentle alternative to invasive surgery or painful treatments, the apollo system has been clinically proven on all skin types. A typical facial treatment takes only 10 to 15 minutes, while body treatments can be completed within half an hour. Attractive offers await the first 20 customers to sign up for package deals.
